Dear Sir or Madam

The Food Hygiene (England) Regulations 2006
Premises:

As you may be aware the regulations requiring registration of food premises came into force on 1 January 2006.

Under the above Regulations, every food business establishment, which distributes, sells, stores or prepares food, drinks and confectionary, is required to register with their Local Authority, Failure to register is an offence carrying a fine of up to £5000 on conviction.

I enclose a Registration form for you to complete and return to this Department within seven days of the date of this letter. Explanatory notes are on the reverse of the application form and a list of exemptions are included.

I recommend that you visit the Food Standards Agency website at www.food.gov.uk

Thank you for your co-operation and if you wish your application for registration to be acknowledged, you must enclose a stamped addressed envelope.

If you have any queries, please contact me on the above telephone number.

Yours faithfully

Enc.

NOTES ON REGISTRATION OF FOOD BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENT

What is registration?

1. Registration of an establishment used for a food business (including market stalls, delivery vehicles and other moveable structures) is required by law. Registration will allow local authorities to keep an up-to-date list of all those premises in their area so they can visit them when they need to. The frequency of the visits will depend on the degree of risk involved.

Who needs to register?

2. All food business establishments will need to register except for the following:
 - Establishments that are already approved under EC Regulation 853/2004
 - Primary production for private domestic use
 - The direct supply by the producer of small quantities of primary products to the final consumer or to local retail establishments directly supplying the final consumer.
3. If you use vehicles for your food business in connection with a permanent establishment such as a shop, warehouse you only need to tell the local authority how many vehicles you have. You do not need to register each vehicle separately. If you have one or more vehicles but no permanent premises, you must tell the authority where they are normally kept.
4. Anyone starting a new food business must register with the local authority at least 28 days before doing so.

How do I register?

5. By filling in this form, registration cannot be refused and there is no charge. The registration form must be sent to your local authority. The address can be found in the telephone directory. If the form is sent to the wrong address your application will not take effect until it is received at the proper place. If you use premises in more than one local authority area, you must register with each authority separately.
6. You must tick all the boxes that apply to your food business, answer all the questions and give all the information requested. A seasonal food business operating for a certain period each year should give the dates between which they will be open in answer to question 12. If you have any questions your local authority will help you. It is an offence to give information, which you know is false.

What happens to the information given on the form?

7. The local authority will enter the details on its Register. The register will consist of the name of the food business (if any), the address, telephone number and the type of business carried out at each premises and will be open to inspection by the general public. Records of the other information provided will not be publicly available.

Changes

8. You should also note that you are also required to notify this Authority of any changes to the business e.g. change to the activities carried out, closure of the business, change in food business operator. Such changes must be notified no later than 28 days after the change has occurred and preferably in writing. The new food business operator will have to complete an application form.
9. If the local authority wishes to change the entry in the Register because of information which it receives from someone else you will be given 28 days notice and an opportunity to comment on the proposed change.

These notes are provided for information only

And should not be regarded as a complete statement of law.
