

Waverley School SEN Garden Completed Autumn 2025

Waverley Special School's garden was installed during the construction of the school in the early 1990s. This had become outdated and no longer met the requirements of a modern SEN school. It was identified that the pupils would benefit from a new Sensory Garden which was designed to support the development of key skills, including social interaction, cognitive abilities, emotional regulation and self-reliance.

Construction of the new garden began in September 2025, while the school remained fully operational. Careful planning and management were essential to minimise disruption for staff and pupils, with health and safety maintained at all times.

The Garden has now been completed, offering the students an outdoor setting that provides a stimulating and sensory experience.
