

My husband and I wish to object to the plan for redeveloping the Sainsbury's site into flats. This store provides a lifeline for an enormous number of elderly and families within miles of the area. With a urgency to dissuade car usage the loss of this facility will inevitably force many thousands of residents back into their cars. In addition the local area is already stretched to the limit as regards gps & dentists, and does not have the infrastructure to incorporate such an increase in residential population, not to mention the strain it will inflict on the local traffic.
